F. G. Miller High School's Class of 2006 toss their mortarboards high in the air, signifying the completion of their secondary education and their readiness for the exciting future opportunities awaiting them as high school graduates.

Celebrating FGM Class of 2006

By VICKI BROOKER
Staff Writer

Nineteen members of F. G. Miller High School's Class of 2006 donned caps and gowns for the Sept. 1 commencement ceremonies where "our graduands become graduates," said principal Laverne Wilson as he welcomed proud parents, grandparents and siblings to the event.

Wilson introduced the school's faculty, "who were instrumental in helping these students achieve their goal tonight," each member of the staff pausing to light a candle as they entered the gym. Assistant principal Cheri Lindquist and teacher Lily Pentek in turn introduced the grads, as each came forward to light their candle from a flame held by one of their teachers before taking their place on stage.

Grads Karly Shankowski and Jessica Lee led the singing of O Canada.

Grad parent Carol Lee gave the invocation, noting that, "the journey through life gives you many roads to take. Meet life head on. The next rock in your path may be a stepping stone. To know where you're going, you have to know where you've been." In closing, she wished all "a beautiful life ... the life you deserve."

This year's academic results were so close that the class had two valedictorians, Lisa Braga and Darby Brooker.

"I would like not to talk about the black-and-white issues in life," Braga said. "Life is a mix of many colours, a blending of many aspects. We may have shades of anxiety grey, but our actions will mix them with the brighter shades that come with grads, weddings and childbirth. Take time to celebrate these precious moments."

"Life is an intricate pattern," she continued, "and everyone who looks at it sees something different. You are living your life, and if you are happy with your shade of grey, that's what's important. Whatever your choices in life, let them be your own. Don't let someone else make them for you. Mix the colours you want to form the shade of grey you like."

Brooker began by thanking the parents "for giving us the freedom to dare, to try." Experience, she said, "is most important. Little troubles seem much bigger than they really are, and we must use our experience to our advantage to discover that."

Fundraising is next step for Chamber's train station

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

With a price now established at $385,000 to complete the exterior shell of the proposed train station, Elk Point Chamber of Commerce is now ready to seek funding for the project.

Dwayne Yaremkevich said that amount would cover the foundation, wall system, roof and windows to close in the building and "completely finish the outside." He estimates that the interior would cost another $400,000, but noted that using conventional frame construction rather than the insulated concrete system would save about $60,000 off the total cost of the structure.

Since most grants require matching funds, it will now be necessary to form a group to lobby potential donors for funding toward the project, before the Town of Elk Point can apply for further grant funding for the project.

The station would make three major projects for Elk Point, including the cultural centre and the proposed new fire hall, which is planned as a centennial project.

Tourists increase

Elk Point Tourist Information Centre's totals for the year are in, with 388 registrants for just under three months of operation. This figure is larger than the totals for the past two years combined, with 125 visitors signing the guest book in 2005 and 153 the year before. Visitation has been low since the last 1990s, despite the move of the TIC to the more accessible location along Highway 41. The second relocation to the Iron Horse Trail staging area has been a success, with a full quarter of the guests arriving via the trail.

Fifty-five of those signing the book were from Elk Point and surrounding areas, another 55 from the rest of northeast Alberta, 203 from other areas of the province, a surprising 68 from eight provinces and territories across Canada, and six international visitors who came from as far away as Bavaria and South Africa.

More visitors to come

The traditional tourist season may be over, but the community's stream of visitors has not yet come to an end. A familiarization tour of ten francophone travel writers, including some from France, will be stopping in Elk Point on October 5, and will be welcomed by the Chamber. The tour is being organized by the Iron Horse Trail Product Club.

Extravaganza planning starts this week

Planning for the 2006 Christmas Extravaganza will get underway this week, with the first meeting set for Wednesday, September 13 at 7 p.m. at Elk Point Public Library. Rod Randall and Lesia Porcina have already agreed to serve with president Sandy Smith on the Extravaganza committee to kick of the initial stages of arrangements for this popular event.

NLLS conference

Northern Lights Library System director Mircea Panciuk told the Chamber he is expecting at least 150 delegates from across the region to the annual Northern Lights Conference on September 20 to 22. Among the guest speakers will be Doug Griffiths, MLA for Battle River - Wainwright and creator of the government's Rural Development Strategy, and the Hon. Denis Ducharme Minister of Community Development, and MLA for Bonnyville - Cold Lake.

New faces

Three new faces at Chamber were Dan Bojarski of St. Paul Abilities Network, Sgt. Darryl Eagles of Elk Point RCMP and Roman Pietrus of Canadian Salt.

Bojarski said SPAN's takeover of the Elk Point Bottle Depot has "gone well, with only a few hiccups. We've maintained the same hours and pickup service as before." He said previous owner Rod Cheshire "had developed it into a hugely successful bottle depot with an astounding volume. We hope to maintain that."

Tremendous response for Grandparents' Day

Walkers and riders of all ages, spanning four generations, took part in Sunday's Grandparents Walk, which originated at the Seniors' Recreation Centre,

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Elk Point and district marked Grandparents' Day with an afternoon of activities at the Elk Point Seniors' Recreation Centre enjoyed by a good crowd, ranging from newborns to great-grandparents.

As volunteers with calculators added up and recorded a mountain of pledges, four generations lined up for the annual 10-block Grandparents Walk, with a stop at the FCSS office midway where Deanna Easthope was handing out refreshing bottles of ice-cold water.

The walk ended at the recreation centre, where organizer Diana Anderson welcomed everyone on "a beautiful day for a walk."

MLA Ray Danyluk and Mayor Parrish Tung both went along on the walk, and brought greetings from the Province and Town.

Danyluk spoke on the importance of grandparents, and said, "you don't realize until you have children how much support you need to raise them."

Tung, just home from visiting his mother, age 80, and mother-in-law, age 88, in Hong Kong, "As a late papa, I feel you kids don't know how lucky you are to have grandparents around."

When something goes wrong, he said, "Who are you gonna call? Grandparents. Deep down, I wish my mom was here."

Anderson said Grandparents Day is celebrated all across Canada, and with just cause.

"Grandparents are the glue that binds families together. Grandchildren who can call on their grandparents are the luckiest children in the world." She said when her own children were small and would threaten to leave home, she knew she would find them safe, sound and comforted just down the road at Grandma Pearl's.

Anderson read a heart-warming message, "My Love for Seniors," from a banner Lucille Smith had found at a garage sale, and noted that part of the proceeds from the annual Grandparents' Walk always goes to the Seniors' Centre to help with their utility costs. This year, for the first time, part would also be going to help African grandparents raising their grandchildren who have been orphaned by AIDS.

All three of the centre's large bulletin boards were overflowing with posters, poems and stories from a contest coordinated by Bernice Capjack. "There are so many beautiful drawings," Capjack said, as she prepared to announce the winners.

In Grades 1 and 2, Karlee Rinas received a prize sponsored by UFA, while Hayley Vinge's prize came from Hilltop Service. Grade 3 and 4 winners were Jackson Kjenner, for a prize from S & R Rentals, and Rosie Sam, whose prize was sponsored by Cal's Home Hardware. Grade 5 & 6 winners were Andrew Mohyluk and Ashley Wozniak, whose prizes were sponsored by Dr. Ramful and Dr. Oyebody.

There were also prizes for the youngest and oldest participants, with six-week-old Tanner Eugene Bayduza receiving a beanie bear from the Alberta Council on Aging and Peggy Maas receiving a corsage donated by Kuhn's Collectibles. Maas also received a gift certificate for dinner for two at Taste Buds, courtesy of The Cutting Edge, for collecting the most pledges, a grand total of $1121.

Maas also saw the television documentary which sparked Anderson's determination to help the grandparents in Africa.

"When I saw the African children, it really touched my heart." She thanked her children and grandchildren, "who are very supportive of me."

Seanna Leaf was the top teen fundraiser at $205, and received a gift certificate from Video Point.

Dance demonstrations were the entertainment for the afternoon. Gary Letvany played a Frankie Yankovic tune on a vintage accordion as Florence Demchuk and Jeannette Frisby swirled across the floor in an old-time polka. The two later joined with former Elk Point resident Gail (Scraba) Farewell and a few brave volunteers to do some clog dancing.

Farewell, who teaches clogging, used to clog with Jeannette, Florence, the late Joan Palamarek and the late Elaine Zayonce, and said, "we used to go to several dances in one night."

Anderson also reminisced about the many dances that were held at small country halls in years gone by.

Two groups from the Elk Point Ukrainian Dance Club entertained. Group 3 dancers Andrea Bader, Taylor Cochrane, Leigha Bishop, Lindsay MacDonald and Elizabeth Orr with a Tambourine Dance and senior dancers Laryssa Cochrane, Andrea Lee and Justyne Wozniak with a Hopak, in the club's first outing since their spring concert.

Anderson was proud to announce the final tally of $4,786 raised by the walk, and thanked all who took part and donated. Deanna Easthope, on behalf of the Seniors' Centre, who will receive $1,420 from the proceeds, said, "Diana is really the one who pulls it all together. We're so glad she recognizes the importance of grandparents and Grandparents' Day."

Anderson said $1,500 would go to assist the African grandparents, and would be delivered by an ACA board member who is going to Tanzania to visit Lushota Orphanage, run by Sister Lushota of the Sisters of Charity. Sister Lushota has volunteered to dole out $50 over the course of a year to each of 30 families.

"Thank you for helping these grandparents way across the world," she concluded.

The names of each participant bringing in over $200 in pledges - Peggy Maas, Amelia Bowen, Holly Myshaniuk, Connie Capjack, Seanna Leaf, Shirley Kvill and Mary Hinton - were put in a hat for a final draw, with Seanna Leaf winning the prize of dinner theatre and accommodation for two at the Mayfield Inn, donated by Mooswa Holdings.

Cakes from Tags and Golden Loaf bakeries, fruit, juice and coffee wound up the afternoon, with some of the youngsters also trying their luck at a prize-laden fish pond.

Terry Fox Run/walk back on track for Sunday

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Residents of Elk Point and district are invited to join in a nationwide fundraising effort that started 26 years ago, when one-legged cancer victim Terry Fox began his Marathon of Hope.

Elk Point was one of the scattering of communities to host a Terry Fox Run in its inaugural year of 1981, and has continued that tradition as the trickle of runners nationwide became a throng.

This year's run, chaired by Kathy Foster, starts at the Iron Horse Trail Staging Area gazebo at 2:00 p.m. on Sunday, September 17, with registration at 1:30 p.m.

This year's course is approximately four kilometers in length, substantially shorter than for previous Elk Point runs, and is entirely in town. Foster hopes that this will encourage those who don't feel they could take part in a 10 km. run to come out and be part of the event. She also assures everyone that no running is required. You may walk, rollerblade, or even ride a bike if you wish, and the terrain is not challenging.

"Pretty much all of the route is on sidewalks or pavement," she notes, adding that for the last stretch, you have the option of returning to the gazebo from 54 Street on the Iron Horse Trail instead of Railway Avenue.

Water for thirsty walkers is being donated by the Elk Point Co-op, and there will also be snacks, juice and coffee for participants at the end of the route.

Registration forms for the 2006 Terry Fox Run/Walk are available at the FCSS office, Town office, Elk Point Elementary School, F. G. Miller High School, TD Canada Trust and ATB Financial.

For more information, contact Kathy at 724-3800.

Trip of the Month

INFORMATION SUBMITTED

Betty Davediuk of Bonnyville was the lucky winner of the trip to Winifred Lake Lodge in the Community Lions of Elk Point's August Trip of the Month Club draw.

Larry Zazualak of St. Paul and James Krucik of Elk Point each received a $100 cash prize. Congratulations.

Chamber fundraising

When asked about plans for expansion into other forms of recycling, Bojarski said, "direction needs to come from the town" if this is to be done.

Sgt. Eagles has been with the RCMP for 26 years, and has now been in Elk Point for a month, after a variety of postings. "I love the small town placement, and hope to put in four or five years here," he said.

Pietrus is the facility manager at the Lindbergh works, and has worked in industry for 24 years, with companies dealing with everything from tractors to pharmaceuticals. He and his family recently moved to Elk Point from Vermilion and feel that "being part of the community is important." He added that he hopes to participate in the chamber.

Public Works projects progressing

A series of water and sewer upgrades have been underway in Elk Point in recent weeks. Above, a crew installs a water pressure stabilizing valve along Highway 41, while at right, a new high-capacity sewer line was installed along 57th Avenue, which will carry waste from the north subdivision by a more direct route to the sewage lift station.

Information night tonight

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Tonight is the night to find out everything you need to know about what's happening in Elk Point.

A capacity crowd of agencies and organizations will be on hand to offer information on their programs, services and upcoming events, making this the ideal way to get acquainted with what's out there to enjoy and to assist you.

Information Night, organized by the Elk Point FCSS Department, is held in the Elks Hall, and will open its doors to the public between 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. for one of the busiest two-hour gatherings of the year.

A number of organizations, such as Elk Point Minor Hockey and Elk Point Further Education will be accepting registrations throughout the evening, while other groups, such as local lodges and churches, will be happy to tell you all about their upcoming events and activities.

Want to find out what services are available locally? Want to learn more about adopting a new family member or how to stop smoking? This is a one-stop-shopping venue for all this information, and much more.

Make sure you come on down. Enter the numerous draws for some really great prizes, enjoy a cup of coffee and a snack, and visit with your neighbours as you stroll around the Elks Hall collecting information that you can use.

The annual Elk Point FCSS Information Night is one of Elk Point's long-standing traditions, and has been helping area residents get acquainted with programs, courses, services and volunteer opportunities for almost two decades.

We'll see you there!

"Tip of the Month"

Be mortgage free sooner than you think

The experts at Mortgage Alliance suggest the following:

1. Match your mortgage payments with your pay periods. Not only does it make budgeting easier, but if you have bi-weekly payments you'll be making an extra payment each year (and you won't even feel it!)
2. Shorten your amortization. If you can budget for the higher monthly payments, this will help you build equity faster and take years off your mortgage.
3. Use your pre-payment option. Many people get a mortgage with this feature, but only 3% actually take advantage of it.
4. Income increasing? Consider permanently increasing your payments to match. Again, you won't feel the strain, but your equity is increasing and interest decreasing with every extra dollar you put in.
5. Most mortgages allow a lump sum payment in any one calendar year - and if you don't use it, you lose it.
6. Shop around for better terms at renewal. Your mortgage professional is not just there for the purchase but throughout the life of your mortgage.

EDITORIAL

Cause is ours for the running

It's more than a quarter century since cancer victim Terry Fox started out on his historic Marathon of Hope to raise money for cancer research. The one-legged runner succumbed to the disease before he could reach his goal, but ever since, his followers carried on where he left off.

If memory serves us correctly, it's 25 years since the first Terry Fox Run in Elk Point. It's become a tradition, however not all years have been successful, as runners grew fewer and a time or two, even organizers could not be found for the event.

It's a shame when a tradition dwindles like that.

Now the Terry Fox Run (or walk, if you prefer) is back, and the new organizer needs our support. In a community where almost every family has been touched in some way by cancer, it should be easy to find people willing to support the cause, either as participants or sponsors.

The course is shorter this year, and located entirely in town, with no big hills and no rough terrain or highways to worry about. Why not pick up a form, get even one or two sponsors, and come on out for a pleasant walk on a fall afternoon? You'll be in good company, with other people who care enough to make a difference.

Terry Fox had a dream Together, we can turn it into a world of hope.

WAY BACK WHEN...

Excellence, from teaching to rodeo

HERE'S THE NEWS THAT MADE THE HEADLINES OF THE ELK POINT REVIEW AND LAKELAND REVIEW FOR THE WEEK OF SEPTEMBER 12 IN...

1986

Millie Orr was looking up... way, way up - to the top of the 12'4 1/2" sunflower she was growing as part of a province-wide contest, with husband Jim providing moral support and lots of plastic pails for the project. A change in federal electoral boundaries, which would trim the area north of the North Saskatchewan River off of the Vegreville riding and add it to the new Beaver River riding, was of concern to Town Council.

1991

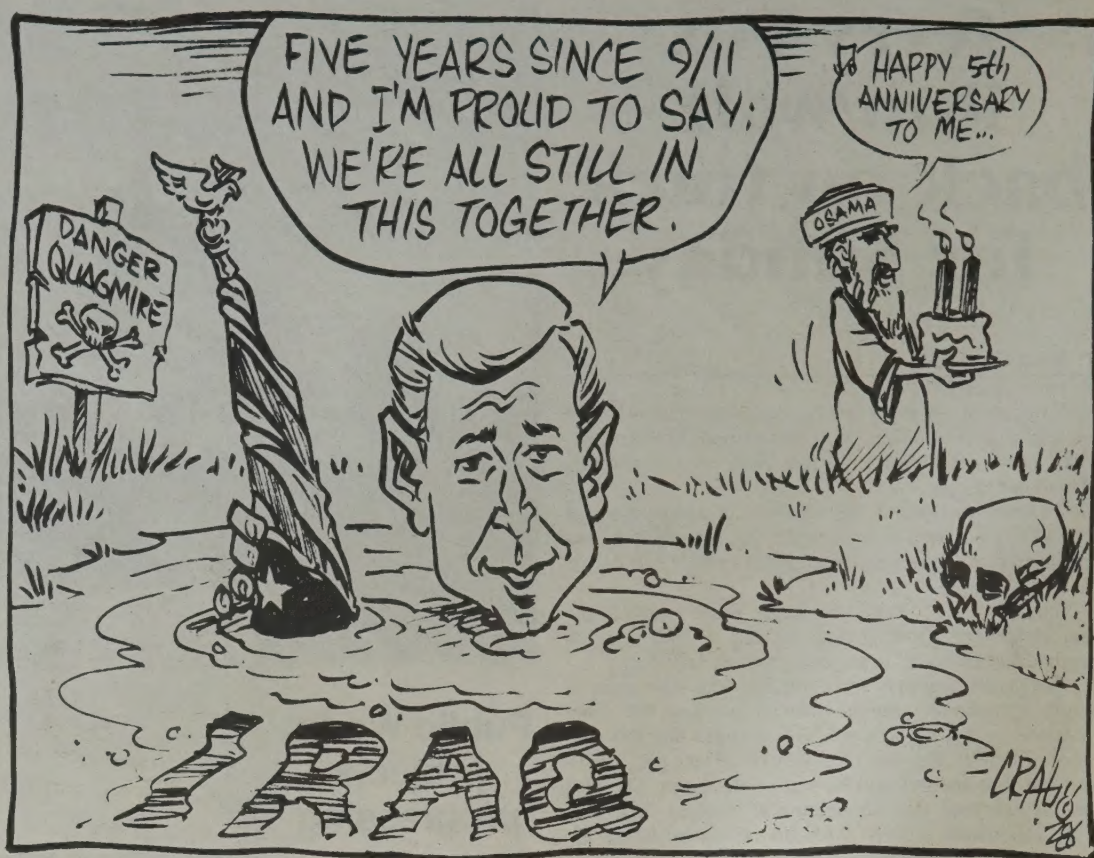

Local Excellence In Teaching awards went to Wayne Hymányk, who "makes learning fun" for his Elk Point Elementary students and Ron Onusko, whose individual encouragement went a long way to preparing his F. G. Miller High School students to tackle real-life situations. Elk Point Tourist Information Centre reported a busy season with 1533 visitors from as far away as Germany, Norway, Switzerland and Japan.

1996

The cool summer may have been responsible for the drop in visitation at both Fort George and Buckingham House and the local tourist information centre, which saw only 486 visitors, a 34% decline from 1995 figures and a 57% drop from 1994, while FGBH recorded a 13% drop from 2,593 to 2,246 visitors over the summer. Wagon train sweethearts Marjorie and Roy Scott tied the knot in an outdoor wedding on the site of Heinsburg's original church.

2001

Matt Veer was named All-Around Cowboy and 2001 Calf Roping champion at Lakeland Rodeo Association Showdown, where his father, Peter, accepted the Bill Ullery Memorial trophy for the Most Sportsmanlike Cowboy of the Year. The Town of Elk Point's meeting with four cabinet ministers and six or seven MLAs regarding potential funding for industrial park road rebuilding was "a disappointment," Mayor Ed Buck told the first meeting of the Chamber of Commerce for the new season, adding that, "we were told they were out of money."

OUR VIEWS

It is in the news!

Yes, it is in the news! Elk Point FCSS is hosting their annual community information night tonight at the Elks Hall. The Elks have generously donated the use of their hall for this important community event. With such an important event, it means you wouldn't want to miss it. Community clubs and organizations have been invited to display what they do, thus making this event a good time to learn what takes place in our community of Elk Point. Let us see you all there!

Speaking of what is in the news, did you know that the Honourable Heather Forsyth, Minister of Alberta Children's Services, and the Honourable Gene Zwozdesky, Minister of Alberta Education and Government House Leader, have initiated a "Stand Up and Stop Bullying" campaign. As part of this campaign, between September 10 and October 1, youth between the ages of 13 and 18 will be asked to create short videos expressing their thoughts on bullying and to send their finished product to City TV. Videos by the four finalists will be posted on City TV's website on October 16, where Albertans will be encouraged to vote for the entry they feel best expresses a positive solution to the bullying situation. Two grand prize winners will receive $600 each in prize money and will see their videos air on City TV. Two runners-up will also see their videos air on City TV and will receive $150 each in prize money. Complete contest details are available on www.citytv.com. A contest poster is also posted in the Elk Point FCSS office.

The Elk Point Review publishes a variety of opinions as a contribution to debate on matters of public concern. Unsigned editorials express the view of this newspaper's editorial board which includes the Publisher and the Editor. Signed pieces express the view of the individual writer.

The "Stand Up and Stop Bullying" campaign, launched earlier this spring, is part of a three-year, province-wide bullying prevention effort - a direct result of commitments made during the Alberta Roundtable on Family Violence and Bullying held in May 2004. The campaign includes a website, www.b-free.ca, that was developed by youth for youth, as well as a 24-hour provincial helpline. Children, youth and adults who need immediate help, advice or support regarding g bullying can now call 1-888-456-2323.

Adults can find help at www.bullyfreealberta.ca, a website that features helpful information and tips about bullying preparation and intervention, as well as a number of other free resource materials. Research shows that bullying can stop within 10 seconds when someone intervenes. As adults, we need to encourage the young people in our lives to speak up if they or someone they know is being bullied.

In the community of Elk Point, the "Check and Change Bullying and Family Violence" Committee is working on the bullying issue in our community. The focus at this point is with the Elementary and Junior - Senior High Schools in Elk Point. Educational and motivational changes are being planned.

One important upcoming event will take place in the Elementary School on Wednesday, September 27. In the afternoon a Motivational Magic speaker, Steve Harmer, will be speaking to the Elk Point Elementary students in the afternoon, and in the evening, he will speak to students, parents and the public. Two different areas around the bullying issue will be presented.

Also in the news for this coming Sunday is the upcoming Terry Fox walk. It will be starting and ending along Railway Avenue at the gazebo. Starting time is 2 p.m. Remember to pick up your pledge sheets at the FCSS office, enter the walk and raise money for cancer research.

"Tonight," she said, "we head in a new direction. Remember, a bend in the road is not the end of the road unless you miss the turn. It is time we now must practice what we have learned."

Mayor Parrish Tung said it was an honour to be invited to the commencement by his former principal. On behalf of the Town of Elk Point, he congratulated the grads on their accomplishments, and thanked the parents and teachers.

"It takes a whole community to serve as a safe harbour," he told the grads. "You will come across rough weather in life, but there's always a safe harbour here."

Wilson next introduced one of his former students, who is now School Board trustee Darrell Younghans.

Commenting on the graduation theme, "Bittersweet Memories," Younghans had one of his own to share, from the fall after his own graduation.

"I was running the combine in a field along the highway. It was one of those nights when the wind blew all night long. Around 8:30 the next morning, the buses started going into town on the first day of school, and as I watched them going by it hit me that this was it. That part of my life was over. I suddenly missed school and realized what a great time it was. I found myself wishing I was on one of those buses. It's ironic that here it is, some 27 years later, and I'm in school and my son is wishing I was combining."

Younghans said he was very proud "to think I played a small role in this part of your life. I know you will all make us proud. I hope you have the courage to be proud of yourselves. I hope you have the maturity to be proud of us."

MLA Ray Danyluk was one of the evening's two guest speakers.

"The importance of youth as a priority for the government is beyond compare," Danyluk said. "They are the future of this country. The influences of youth on the development of this province goes beyond compare. The opportunities for youth are unsurpassed."

He told the grads their time at F. G. Miller has included "the good and bad times that shaped who you are today. Your years here were significant, the teachers, coaches, parents, family, fellow students and the community have been at your side. Take time to remember them. And dream big - opportunity is yours for the taking."

Former FGM principal Jim Hawkins was invited back by the grads to be part of their special day.

"Eighteen years ago, you began a journey of life. You are now at an interesting, time with very critical choices to make. In 1986, I was born anew when I became the principal here. I was scared. I felt the school secretary was the only person who supported me. All of the students were taller than me, and had nicer trucks."

Hawkins told the grads

they would find "the whole world of work and post secondary education is rewarding and challenging. Life is not easy out there, but you've got a darned good education and a great background because you come from a great school. For a small school, F. G. Miller has developed a strong academic reputation, but it's way, way more than academics, with CTS, fine arts, music, Cree culture, French and music. The special education incorporates a great team of instructional assistants."

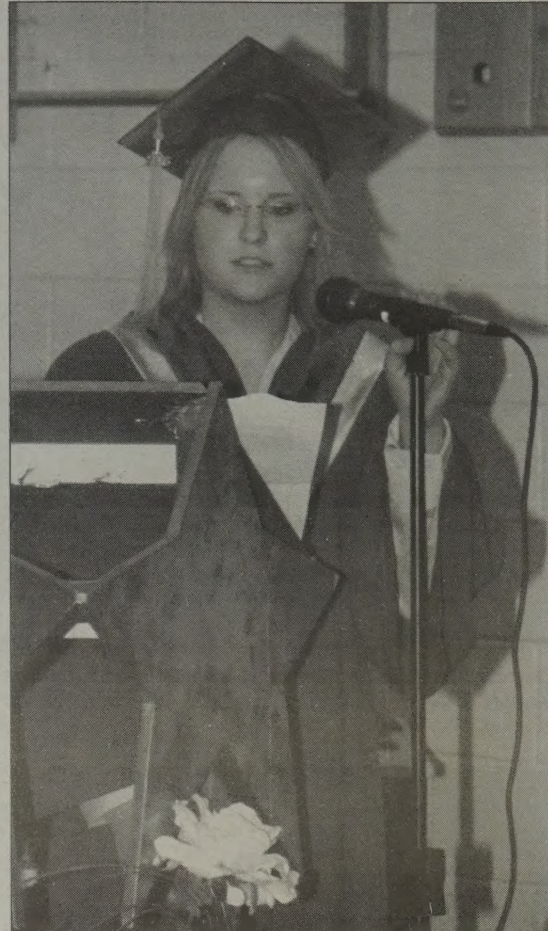

Younghans presided over the presentation of numerous awards to the grads, with Wilson adding his congratulations and turned the tassel on each mortarboard before the new graduates triumphantly headed off to join their families.

Following the banquet, teacher Colin Bjorkman toasted the graduates, with a reply by Stephanie and Marcy Ference. Amanda Poulin toasted the parents, with the reply by her mother, Deb. Karly Shankowski toasted the teachers, with the reply by Kelly Burke.

To officially signify the end of their years at FGM, Amanda Poulin and Darby Brooker passed on the ceremonial Crusader sword to Sage Lowry and Dan Blacklock, members of the Class of 2007.

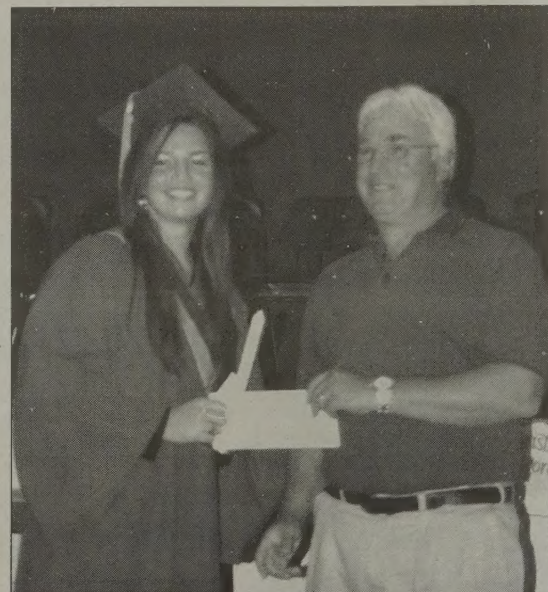

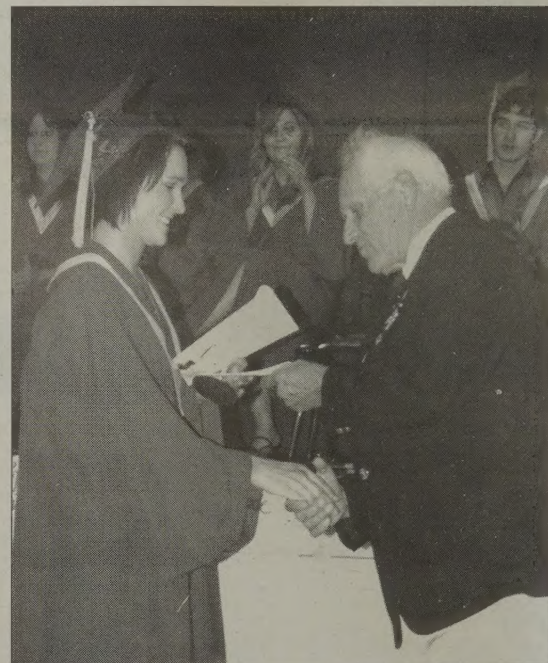

The evening concluded with the presentation of small gifts to all the graduates by students union representatives Brittany Ballas, Sage Lowry and Cassy Cochrane, followed by a slide presentation.

MLA Ray Danyluk advised that along with their bitter-sweet memories, grads should "enjoy the chocolate."

Hockey sign-up time is here

Hey, what's going on in the arena parking lot? A big track hoe came looking for a buried treasure, possible gold medals from years past? Looks like we're going to have a Christmas tree to decorate this winter. Actually it's a pump lifting station and it will increase the pressure at the north end of town.

So what else is happening? Well, tonight you can get down to the Elks Hall to the information night and visit the Elk Point Minor Hockey booth and register for hockey. It's time to start thinking about it; hockey usually starts the middle of October. The annual minor hockey meeting is slated for Sept 27th. Be sure to mark it down, come out and get involved. After all, even though you may not feel like it, it will benefit your kids. And if you're looking for something to do Monday nights, starting in September it's the annual work bee at the A.G. Ross Arena, so come out and lend a hand for an hour or two starting at 7p.m. on Monday nights.

And now for the K.A. Campbell quote of the week: "It could have been worse if we hadn't blocked the kick after Toronto's second touchdown."

New sheriffs may be patrolling local highways

By JANICE POITRAS

Staff Writer

On Sept. 1, Alberta's Solicitor General's Department announced the addition of 21 sheriffs throughout the province who will be helping local police authorities monitor the province's highways.

The program began Labour Day long weekend, and it is already proving to be a valuable tool, according to Jill McCormick, communications with the Solicitor General and Public Security.

During the sheriffs' first weekend shift, a vehicle was pulled over near Medicine Hat for a traffic violation. With the help of nearby RCMP officers, 113 grams of cocaine was apprehended, explains McCormick.

Although Medicine Hat may feel like a world away to local residents, the new program stretches across Alberta and also deals with Highway 63, a stretch of highway running north to Fort McMurray, along with other problem highways.

A recent press release from the Solicitor General's office pinpoints highways 8, 11, 21, 22, 43 and 63 as some of the main problem areas but, "we're not only going to be on those highways," says McCormick.

The sheriffs will be dispatched to areas throughout the province and may very well find their way to the St. Paul area, she explains. "The sheriffs do have jurisdiction on all provincial highways."

Currently, sheriffs are dispatched from seven regions, including Fort McMurray, Grande Prairie, Edmonton, Red Deer, Calgary, Lethbridge and Medicine Hat.

The program will be looking to the public for help targeting problem areas, and if residents have concerns about specific highways, they are encouraged to fill out the Traffic Service Request form available online at http://www.solgen.gov.ab.ca/security_services/traffic_service_request.htm.

Sheriffs are looking for aggressive drivers, speeders and seatbelt violators, explains McCormick. The sheriffs also have the ability to apprehend people who have warrants, but they must call local RCMP if dealing with Criminal Code violations, such as impaired driving and drug possession.

"Enforcement is key in any traffic safety strategy," says McCormick. Fast and aggressive drivers "won't be tolerated," she adds.

Last year, nearly 400 fatalities occurred on Alberta roads, says McCormick.

The new program emerged after a successful six-month pilot project involving eight sheriffs took place in Fort McMurray, Boyle and Strathcona County. At the time, the focus was on highways 63 and 21.

The feedback "was really positive," says McCormick.

An additional 21 sheriffs, currently undergoing training, will be spread throughout the same seven detachments beginning Thanksgiving long weekend.

Placements of the sheriffs is "a matter of where we need the resources," says McCormick.

"Having permanent Alberta Sheriffs on our highways will make them safer and cut down on the number of driver infractions," said Ty Lund, Minister of Infrastructure and Transportation in a news release.

Overall, $4.6 million has been dedicated to the sheriff program. Other duties performed by the sheriffs will include courthouse security, prisoner transfers and executive and judicial protective services, according to the press release.

OBITUARY

ONUSKO, Ronald Bobby

Jan. 30, 1943 - Sept. 8, 2006

It is with great sadness that the family of Ron announce his passing at the age of 63 at the University of Alberta Hospital this past Friday.

Left to cherish Ron's memory are his loving wife and best friend of 39 years, Carolyn; his children, James (wife, Lesli) of Airdrie & Cassandra (husband, Nicholas) of Spruce Grove; his grandchildren, Emma, Belle & Tristan; his siblings, June of Edmonton & Larry (wife, Rose) of Cloverdale, B.C. along with numerous in-laws, nieces, nephews, extended family and friends; he was pre-deceased by his parents, James and Doris Onusko.

Ron was born in Vancouver and spent his childhood between both Edmonton & Surrey, B.C. Ron began post-secondary studies at the University of Alberta - Calgary campus and completed degrees in Arts and Education in 1967 in Edmonton. Ron & Carolyn were married in May of that year. They first resided in Iron River, AB and then moved to Elk Point, AB two years later and have resided there until the present day.

Ron was an outstanding, award-winning educator for nearly thirty years and devoted countless hours to his students and the F.G. Miller Jr/Sr High School. He was a pioneer teacher in the field of Special Needs education and held all of his students in the highest esteem. Ron's teaching career ended in 1995 due to health complications and he was a heart transplant recipient in 1997 through the University of Alberta transplant program. He made tremendous strides during his recovery and his amazing internal will along with support from family & friends helped him through the past ten years. Ron was tireless in his volunteer efforts for the community as a coach, organizer, and supporter; his work with the Elk Point Historical Society was particularly rewarding and important as his dedication to Elk Point and area was exceptional.

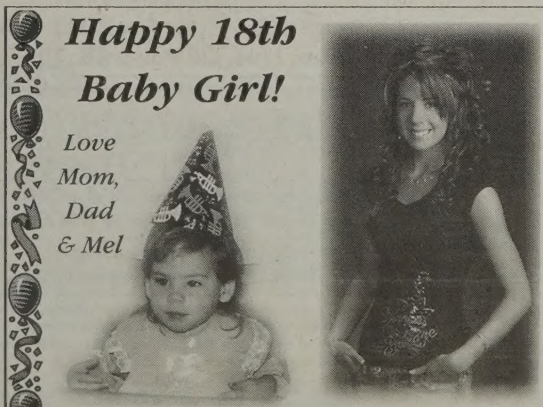

Ron's Funeral Service will be held in the gymnasium of the F.G. Miller Jr/Sr High School in Elk Point on Saturday, September 16 at 1:00 p.m. with interment to follow in the Elk Point East Cemetery, Elk Point. The family has asked that in lieu of flowers, donations be made to the Alberta Heart and Stroke Foundation, Canadian Cancer Society, Canadian Diabetes Association, Elk Point Public Library or the F.G. Miller Jr/Sr High School library c/o Box 425 St. Paul, AB T0A 3A0.

Axe attack

By STAFF WRITERS

Following the complaint of someone being chased around with an axe, Elk Point RCMP charged a 28-year-old male with assault with a weapon.

After midnight on Sept. 1, police responded to the incident on the Frog Lake First Nation and found a 27-year-old resident suffering from a wound to his upper body. The man was treated at the Elk Point hospital and released.

Alexs Berland, from Frog Lake, will appear in St. Paul provincial court on Sept. 14.

Axe attack

By STAFF WRITERS

Following the complaint of someone being chased around with an axe, Elk Point RCMP charged a 28-year-old male with assault with a weapon.

After midnight on Sept. 1, police responded to the incident on the Frog Lake First Nation and found a 27-year-old resident suffering from a wound to his upper body. The man was treated at the Elk Point hospital and released.

Alexs Berland, from Frog Lake, will appear in St. Paul provincial court on Sept. 14.

LRA salutes 2006 champions

By VICKI BROOKER
Staff Writer

Elk Point area cowboy Charlie Young was among those honoured by the Lakeland Rodeo Association at last Sunday's year-end awards banquet. Young accepted the Bill Ullery Memorial Sportsmanship Award from Lenny Lawes, who like Ullery, was one of the first members of the 28-year-old organization.

The Cowboy of the Year award was made during one of the weekend's Showdown performances and went to Roger Gunsch of Thorsby, the team qualifier in the Calf Roping.

Season leaders and runners-up, along with the Showdown champions, were announced by Dean Lawes, and came forward to receive trophy buckles, watches and gift certificates for custom-made trophy saddles.

Denny Phipps of Marshall, Sask. picked up both the Bareback Bronc Riding championship award from Boulet Boots and the season-runner-up award from the LRA, while Travis Merchant of Lac La Biche won the season leader buckle from Miller Rodeo Co. Miller was also in the winner's circle, their Midnight Delight named Bareback Horse of the Year, while Doubletree's Runaround Sue was Bareback Horse of the Finals.

Mark O'Dempsey of Mayerthorpe was named champion in the Saddle Bronc, with his award sponsored by CFCW. Season leader Travis Reay of Mayerthorpe accepted a buckle from Doubletree Rodeo Co. while Wayne Powell of Olds won the runner-up watch sponsored by the LRA. Saddle Bronc Horse of the Year was Doubletree's Eagle Feather, while Horse of the Finals was Les Trach Rodeo's Indian Outlaw.

Miles Pennington of Stettler picked up both the Bull Riding championship, from Cowboy Country Clothing Ltd., and the season leader buckle from Mac's Oilfield Services, while Kyle French of Lacombe received the runner-up award from CNRL.

Randy Smith of Olds was both champion and season runner-up in the Calf Roping, with awards from Tornado Technologies and the St. Paul Journal. The Journal also sponsored the season leader award, which went to Chris Verhun of Thorsby.

Troy Pollitt of Bentley won the Cook County Saloon championship award in the Steer Wrestling, with Jerry Stojan winning the season leader buckle from Cassidy Construction and Denver Hoff of Drayton Valley the runner-up award from the LRA and the fastest run of the finals award from Diamond K Marketing. Stojan and Hoff also accepted awards for the Steer Wrestling Horse of the Year and Hazing Horse of the Year, respectively.

Team Roping awards saw headers Lee White of Buck Lake accepting the Newalta Corp. championship trophy, Tyson Utri of Drayton Valley the season leader award from On Site Oil and Murdock Keith the runner-up award from the LRA. Heeler Clark McCarroll of Daysland accepted the B & R Eckels championship, with Mark Flynn taking home the season leader award from DOS Millwrights and Travis Reay of Mayerthorpe the runner-up watch from the LRA.

Penny Davis of Fort Saskatchewan was presented with the Big West Dodge championship trophy in the Ladies Barrels, with Brandi Hagen of Warburg qualifying for the season leader award and Lonnie Shulko of Smoky Lake the runner-up watch, both sponsored by the LRA. Hagen also accepted the Coles Western Wear award for Barrel Horse of the Year.

In the Junior Barrels, Jessica Hansen of Mayerthorpe was a multiple winner, with the championship award from Battle River Credit Union, the season leader award from the LRA and the Horse of the Year award from Coles Western Wear. Chelsey Cartier of Medicine Hat was runner-up for the LRA award.

Keifer Watt of Hardisty was a double winner in the Novice Horse Riding, with the championship award from CVS Controls and the season runner-up watch from the LRA. Season leader Kris Kremp of Tiger Lily also accepted an award from the LRA.

The season runner-up was also the champion in the Junior Bulls, with Teryn Ringland of Niton Junction accepting awards from Tomoc Production Services Ltd. and the LRA, and season leader Jim Keufler presented with the LRA buckle.

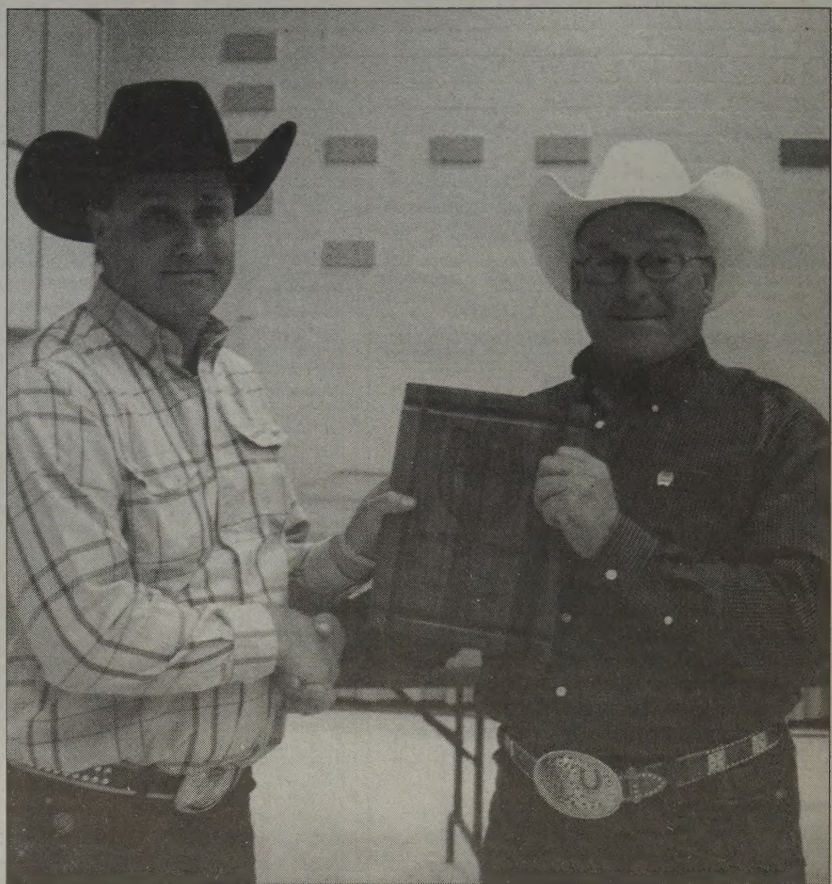

Junior Steer Riding champion Billy West of

Cadogan, season leader Jordan Ness of Drayton Valley and runner-up Kerry Lavalley of Mayerthorpe all received awards from the LRA.

This year's All Around Cowboy was Ronald

Schmidt, with his handsome bronze sculpture donated by Welsh's Saddlery and Western Wear,
